

Sullivan University System names new president

Continuing a third generation of involvement by the Sullivan family with Sullivan University, Glenn D. Sullivan has been named President of The Sullivan University System.

Following in the footsteps of his grandfather A.O. Sullivan and father Dr. A.R. Sullivan who together founded Sullivan in 1962, President Sullivan is the third generation of the Sullivan family to lead Kentucky's largest independent college or university system.

President Sullivan, a graduate of Tulane University, has been employed faculty and staff and serving more than 8,000 students each year on six campuses, and worldwide on the World Wide Web through online classes.

Chancellor named

Dr. A.R. Sullivan, who has served as President since 1978, has moved to the new position of Chancellor of the System. He will devote more time to the development of new programs and initiatives for the entire System as well as doing in-depth research on many of the System's internal procedures to ensure that the

I will be working with our campus leaders daily on new projects." He added, "After 24 years of service to this organization, Glenn is ready for this position and I know he will do a wonderful job. I am also happy that my daughter, Lisa Sullivan Likins is also a part of this organization in her role with the University's Early Childhood Education program. I am blessed that my two children have chosen to work with me in building this organization."

The Herald staff and everyone in The Sullivan University System, congratulate and thank Chancellor Sullivan for his lifelong efforts to build Sullivan from those first seven students to where the University is today. At the Spring 2006 graduation held April 22, 2006 (one of two formal commencement ceremonies the University has each year), more than 600 students were eligible to receive certificates, diplomas, associate, bachelor's and master's degrees. Chancellor Sullivan shared with the 4,000 + family and friends in attendance, that the highlights of his year are the spring and fall graduations where he meets each graduate and hands them their diplomas or degrees. He shared, "It renews me every time to watch the pride and happiness of those who have met the challenges and reached graduation as their first goal to success. I plan to continue to perform this as long as I am able."

Left to right, Glenn D. Sullivan, President of The Sullivan University System; Dr. A.R. Sullivan, Chancellor, The Sullivan University System; and Lisa Sullivan Likins, Director of Graduate Employment for Sullivan University's Early Childhood Education and Professional Nanny programs.

at Sullivan since 1981 serving in a variety of positions from campus director to administrative vice president; most recently serving as Executive Vice President of the System. The System includes Sullivan University, Spencerian College, The Louisville Technical Institute, Sullivan Global Online, and Sullivan University EurAsia employing more than 1,000 full and part-time quality that he has devoted his entire 44 year career with Sullivan University is further enhanced.

Dr. Sullivan shared, "I am not retiring. I am just moving to a new full-time role of leadership within the System. I will still be working with, and challenging everyone, including our new President, to move these institutions to even higher plateaus.